Dear Resident

As you probably know hedgehogs are a rare site and their numbers are falling rapidly, with less than one million currently in the UK. Anything you can do to help the ones in this area live and thrive is much appreciated.

- Hedgehogs are nocturnal creatures and sleep during the day in leaves, compost, bushes and under sheds and come out at night for food. If you see one out during the day it may be very hungry or in urgent need of medical attention.
- Hedgehogs usually to go in and out of hibernation anytime between November and March depending on the temperature. They usually emerge from hibernation once the temperature begins to rise and remain consistently above 5 degrees. PLEASE DO NOT DISTURB A HIBERNATING HEDGEHOG
- Hedgehogs generally need additional food throughout the year, particularly during the summer breeding season and in the winter when the natural food supply is reduced. Up to 50,000 hedgehogs each year are killed by cars as they cross roads looking for food and/or hedgehog mates. It would be helpful if you could put a bowl of water and a sachet or 1/3rd tin of either wet food (meat based cat or dog food in jelly) or up to 50g of cat biscuits out each night close to any gaps in your fence/hedge where the hedgehog might wander through. You can make or buy a feeding station to stop cats/dogs/foxes eating the food and place this close to any gaps where the hedgehog wanders into your garden

Use a 32litre under the bed storage box. For more information and a short film demonstrating how to make the feeding station visit our website.

www.snuffles-rescue.com Line the bottom of the box with newspaper and place the food bowl at the far end of the box.

- Please do not block off any gaps in or under your fence or gravel board as this could be the hedgehog's nightly route. If you haven't got one already please make a gap of approx 5 square inches in or under your fence or gravel board so that the hedgehog can roam freely between gardens
- Please avoid using slug pellets as these poison hedgehogs and they usually die a very slow and painful death. Also take care when gardening as hedgehogs can be hurt or killed by gardening equipment. Please check for hedgehogs before digging, strimming and mowing

If you see a hedgehog roaming around your garden during the day call your local hedgehog rescue or us for advice. Use a high sided (at least 18" high) cardboard box or cat carrier and using gardening gloves pick up the hedgehog and place it in the box until you have sought advice. Your support with this is much appreciated. Visit our website for more information.
